Invites you to an evening of Eco Elegance
on 8th July 2009 6 to 9 pm
Presenting:

Elena Garcia

Caring where your clothes come from does not mean you should have to sacrifice style over substance. Elena Garcia tells how you can keep chic and feel great, and when keeping your great look is a positive step, reducing your footprint. Why Luxury should mean Ethical, and when recycled means Upcycled.

Born in Spain but based in London since 1992, Elena's Eco-Couture blends daring design, traditional techniques, and luxurious, eco-friendly textiles to create beautiful, timeless pieces for women of all ages. Elena also started re-working fashion waste many years ago, in creating new and unique textile designs resulting in Sew Last Season. The label's unique menswear designs have put Elena on the fashion map, attracting interest from Jane Shepherdson, Oxfam, Moss Bros, and trend visionaries TrendStop.

Enjoy a glass of organic wine and the chance to experience the Collection with discount on all purchases.
